SEENSPIRE DIGITAL SIGNAGE CONTENT

In 2011. Everyone was turning focus to mobile devices and looking past the opportunity to do more with the public screens in places where people work, wait and buy. Seenspire was founded as a creative agency with a goal to help companies tell their brand stories through digital signage. Collaborating with international clients and partners on content, we learned that digital signage for internal communication wasn't as impactful as it should be. Inspired by TV broadcast scheduling we realized that attention had to be drawn to company content with a diverse and attractive playlist for the viewer in the modern workplace. Since 2017, Seenspire has grown from an Agency to a full-fledged tech company, but our mission is unchanged: Seenspire's unlimited content subscription service for digital signage helps its users create awareness for their screens and drive attention to the message that matters most. Call Activate The Space to learn more.
