WATERPIK

Waterpik is a leader in clinically proven personal and oral health care products recognized for their award-winning design and technology. AXIS was selected to design and produce a compact display which incorporated a contemporary design for the Ultra Water Flosser. The display allowed hygienists, dentists, and patients to interact and demo the product, guiding the consumer to an informed, and confident buying decision. The final product was shipped to dentist and orthodontist offices across the United States and Canada. See more on Waterpik on our Website.
