SONOS

Dynamic partnered with Bergmeyer to help Sonos develop a feasibility study in advance of a high-end design and build package which included liaising with multiple partners and vendors globally. The Sonos store model is unique in design as it allows the consumer to experience their speaker sound in specialty designed EXR Pods. These are the centrepiece of the store and required a lot of specific technical design such as soundproofing and acoustical engineering. The store was designed to maximize the customer's sound experience with its simple and relaxed fixtures and furnishings.
