

TJ HALE

RECEPTION

Reception offices and reception areas represent your business and give your customers or visitors a first measure of the quality of your services. These are the places where clients gather before a big sales meeting. They are the spaces where children are asked to wait, and where they need to be acknowledged or entertained. They are the reception areas for clinics and doctor offices where a warm and inviting design help ease the a patient's nervousness. TJ Hale works with you to create the space you are looking for, a space that captures your interest in the comfort and well-being of your clients..
