LAB-35

Lab-35 is the modular display system inspired by the high-tech, precision-focused environments of science and development laboratories. In both form and function, it references the growing appetite for future-oriented designs that is shared by brands across the globe. Lab-35 uses sleek, satin-silver anodised aluminium profiles to provide designers with a toolkit of parts that can be used to create a wide range of flexible, on-trend merchandising displays that inject a sense of precision into retail environments of all types.
